FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old.

In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use

Accept no substitute—there is none.

To Remove Freckles and Pimples in Ten Days.

NADINOLA is a new discovery, sold under a positive guarantee and money refunded in every case where it fails to remove freckles, pimples, liver-spots, sun-tan, sallowness, blackheads, collar discolorations and all eruptions of the skin, no matter of how long standing. Cures ordinary cases in 10 days, and the worst in 15 to 20 days. After these defects are removed the skin will be clear, healthy and beautiful. No possible harm can result from its use. As regards our reputation and ability to comply with our agreements, we refer to the Commercial Bank and Bank of Henry, Paris, Tenn., or any county official. Ask your druggist for NADINOLA, if he hasn't it, send us a 50-cent money order and we will send you a 50-cent package of NADINOLA by mail. If it fails to do all we claim for it, notify us and we will promptly return your money. Address NATIONAL TOILET CO., Paris, Tenn.

Man and Boy Converted into Lard.

Corroboration of stories that men have fallen into the rendering caldrons at the Chicago stockyards and their flesh has been converted into lard came yesterday. A. M. Simons, who for more than three years was the agent of the Chicago Bureau of Charities, at its stockyards station, furnished information for the stories told by Upton Sinclair, in "The Jungle," and others. During the time that he was stationed there, in the year 1898, two instances came directly under Mr. Simon's notice, and he was informed of a third, though he will not vouch for the latter case. The cases that came directly under his notice were those of a boy, 10 years old, and the child's father. In speaking of the cases yesterday he said he could not remember the name, though he had made a record of it at the time, and those records are still in the office of the Bureau of Charities.

"I think the name was Hammond, or something similar," he said. "The family lived in a tenement in west Forty-seventh street, near Ashland avenue, Chicago.

"The boy, who carried his father's dinner to him every day, went too near one of the steam caldrons, which are not protected in any way, and his father, waiting for him, heard his death scream as he slipped and fell headlong into the scalding steam, carrying his dinner-basket with him.

"The father made frantic efforts to get to the boy, and his fellow-workmen did all in their power, but it was 10 minutes before the steam could be shut off and an examination made, and by that time nothing was left of the boy but the bones.

"It must have been a feeling that somehow he might see his boy's face in the steam that brought the father too near the edge of the vat, and one day, only a few weeks after the boy's death, his fellow-workmen heard a stifled scream and saw him fall into the same vat.

"There was no special effort made to get him out, and when, after nearly half an hour, examination was made there wasn't a trace of him. Even the bones had dissolved.

"The flesh of this man and of his boy went on with the rendered meat in the caldron and in due time was placed in buckets and sold on the market. No attempt was ever made to clean the caldron, and the foreman of the room probably reasoned that it would be too much of a loss to throw the entire contents of the caldron out just because a man had fallen into it.

"The case came under the attention of the Bureau of Charities because the man's family appealed to us for help. They told the revolting story and I entered it on the records of the office. We cared for the widow and the children for sometime, and I believe the woman finally went to work herself at the yards".

Terrible Fate of Three Children.

At the close of a four-hour search for her three youngest children, Mrs. Adelford Van Slette, of Kankakee, Ill., found them Wednesday night dead in a trunk in an upper chamber.

All three were little girls, the youngest a mere baby. One dead body was sitting upright; the others lay huddled together upon a pillow. The lid of the big trunk was tightly closed upon them.

It is supposed they had crawled into the trunk during their play and that the cover fell and latched and that they were suffocated. The tray of the trunk had been lifted out and lay upon the bed. With their six boys and four girls the Van Slettes move there from a farm at Beaverville a year ago. Van Slette is a teamster and is in good circumstances. The whole family occupies a five-room house. The younger children of the family had been playing out of doors much of the day, listening to music and watching the martial display. Late in the afternoon the three youngest—Ida, eight years old; Rosella, aged six, and Pearl, aged two—left the others, going into the house to continue their romping.

Supper time came, and Mrs. Van Slette's calls through the house and yard failed to bring any response. After supper was over Mrs. Van Slette, according to the story told by the family, turned her attention to the house. She had gone through the rooms a dozen times and thought she had searched every nook and corner. At last the mother, in a sleeping room where was a large old-fashioned rounding-top trunk of the "Saratoga" variety, observed something she had overlooked. The tray had been taken from the trunk and was lying on the bed.

Mrs. Van Slette lifted the lid of the trunk and saw her two babies lying on a pillow in the bottom of the trunk. Ida, the eldest of the three girls, was sitting upright, her head drooping on her breast. The children were so still that Mrs. Van Slette stood in sympathetic stillness for an instant. Then she put forth her hand and touched Ida and spoke. Contact with the girl's head and the lack of response froze the woman with horror. The children were dead. The trunk is not self locking, but it has clasps that easily might snap and hold it shut against the strength of children.

A Miraculous Cure.

The following statement, by H. M. Adams and wife, Henrietta, Pa., will interest parents and others. "A miraculous cure has taken place in our home. Our child had eczema 5 years and was pronounced incurable, when we read about Electric Bitters, and concluded to try it. Before the second bottle was all taken we noticed a change for the better, and after taking 7 bottles he was completely cured." It's the up-to-date blood medicine and body building tonic. Guaranteed. 50c and $1.00 at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 1, 1906.

THE OUTRAGE perpetrated in Madrid yesterday by anarchists while wedding bells were ringing and the mass of the people were rejoicing with their young King and his Queen is justly condemned and resented by well-disposed people throughout the civilized world. It was a dastardly act and the principals and abettors can urge nothing in extenuation of their horrid crime. As is generally the case, innocent and unsuspecting people were victims of the bomb intended for the newly-married sovereign who had done nothing to merit the animosity of the fiend who threw the missle or those who had egged him on. Alfonso's only offense was that he had been born a King. The spirit of regicide has always been apparent in this world, but it seems that it is becoming more and more pronounced in the twentieth century. The head that wears a crown lies more uneasily as the years come and go. This is a sad commentary on the time. Alfonso, who has but entered the portals of manhood, has been the target of the bomb-thrower twice within a year, the first time in the great city of Paris while seated in an open carriage with the President of the French republic. Yesterday, when another attempt was made on his life, he was with his bride, a young English princess. The anarchist is an unclean and hateful bird and a disgrace to his genus.

THE President seems to be weakening in the fight for Senator Beveridge's meat inspection bill and the Senator is disgruntled. The President now seems willing to accept the amendment proposed by the representatives of the packers providing that the cost of the inspection service shall be borne by the government, and not by the packers. Senator Beveridge and other Senators believe if the President makes this concession it will be a grave, if not a fatal, mistake. It will imperil the future usefulness and perhaps permanence of the legislation, as it will create a prejudice against the inspection service because of its cost to all the people and will afford the packers and allied interests an opening each year for an attack on the service when the appropriation to defray the cost of it comes before the House and Senate. The President seems to have been brought to the point of yielding on this matter by the arguments of the live stock interests that are really fighting the battle of the crafty beef barons, who keep discreetly in the background through fear of exciting fresh indignation.

MENTION was recently made in this column of the strange and dangerous change that has taken place during the past few years in the sentiment entertained by many people of this country concerning anarchists and anarchism. What a few years ago was read and looked upon with terror, is now accepted as but little out of the ordinary, but what the end will be, no one can tell. In Washington, the capital city of the country, on Wednesday night, a Russian revolutionist and socialist openly advocated the throwing of bombs for the overthrow of government. For a year after President McKinley had been assassinated such a speech would not have been tolerated in Washington for a minute; but on Wednesday night the man who made the speech was applauded. Truly, times change.

DESPITE the awful charges made against the beef packers and manufacturers of canned meat, Speaker Cannon, Chairman Wadsworth, of the committee on agriculture, and the other friends and supporters of beef trust methods announce seriously, but emphatically, that they are endeavoring to frame a measure that will be satisfactory to every one, and, when they have succeeded, legislation will be enacted. This means that if there is to be an inspection of the meat supplied by the packers for interstate commerce so as to guard against the sale of diseased and unsound carcasses and putrid canned goods, it must be an inspection that the packers themselves will approve and which will not interfere too strongly with their methods.

THE beef trust, it is said, is striving to bring about a change that will practically nullify the Beveridge meat-inspection amendment. And it will succeed, too, if such a thing is possible.

From Washington.

Washington, June 1.

Further inquiry into the relations of the Pennsylvania and B. & O. railroads with the bituminous coal industry was made by the Interstate Commerce Commission today. Commissioners Knapp, Clements and Cockrell took the testimony. E. T. Postlethwaite, an assistant to President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania, was the first witness called. "None whatever," said he when asked by Counsel Glasgow, if he owned any interest in coal companies. He said he sold an interest in the Keystone Coal Company, acquired by holding in subsidiary companies, to Robert K. Cassatt, eastern manager of the Keystone four years ago. Two years ago he sold a small holding in the Altoona Coal and Coke Company. J. E. Muhlfeld, general superintendent of motive power of the B. & O., was next called. Finally he admitted that the Frick Company, was not charged for certain "light" repairs, for which other companies were charged. With the statement that the testimony of a Mr. Collins, a local dealer, who complained he could not get coal over certain roads at Washington would be taken in the meantime, the commissioners adjourned until next Tuesday at Philadelphia.

Some of the officials of the Department of Justice predict that there will soon be instituted wholesale suits against the railroads and perhaps against the Standard Oil Company, based on the facts uncovered by Commissioner Garfield in his investigation of the oil trust. It is said to be the purpose of the department to go into court, present its evidence and demand the maximum penalties provided for violation of the Elkins anti-rebate law. It is believed that in this way the corporations can be taught a valuable lesson.

The State Department today received advices from Venezuela to the effect that acting President Gomez has asked Castro to return to Caracas and resume the presidency, that Castro has refused, and that now Gomez will call a special session of the legislature to accept formally Castro's resignation. The dispatch quotes Castro as saying that he would be willing to return and act as private secretary to Gomez.

Reed Smoot, Senator from Utah, has been declared by the Senate committee on privileges and elections to be not entitled to his seat in the Senate of the United States. This decision was reached at a meeting of the committee this morning by a vote of 7 to 5. Chairman Burrows was authorized to prepare a report to the Senate, which he will do at the earliest possible moment. The votes were then taken on the question as to what course of action the committee would recommend. One of these was on the proposition that Smoot should be excluded. That was voted down. The other motion was that the recommendation should be that he be expelled. On this motion the committee divided 6 to 6. Although under the rules of the Senate a tie vote defeated any proposition, yet in the case, it stands as the sense of the committee that if Smoot is to be retired, it must be by the constitutional method of expulsion by a two thirds vote of his colleagues. Chairman, Burrows says he will prepare his report as soon as possible, but it will take some little time. It is uncertain when the matter will be taken up in the Senate nor is it yet decided it will be discussed at this session or be postponed until next December. Senator Depew's vote was not counted.

A number of the Representative Adams' colleagues in the House, nearly all of those from Pennsylvania and from the committee on foreign affairs, will go to Philadelphia to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Adams. Robert G. Cousins, of Iowa, who is the ranking member of the committee on foreign affairs, will act as chairman for the remainder of the term. Mr. Adams' death and the retirement of Mr. Hitt, of Illinois, the chairman of the committee, put Mr. Cousins in line for the chairmanship.

Secretary of War Taft today approved the final scheme for the mobilization of troops of the regular army at seven brigade camps to be established between July 15th and October 15th. Nearly every State and Territory has promised to send militia troops to one or the other of these camps to take part in the exercises planned for the troops by the army general staff. The plan approved by Secretary Taft today provides for the participation in the maneuvers at these camps of all regular troops stationed within the continental limits of the U. S. except the coast artillery, which will not take part in the exercises.

Considerable uneasiness is felt by his friends as to the whereabouts of W. B. Gurley, formerly of the stock brokerage firm. He went to Nantucket several weeks ago, but dissappeared from there and nothing has been heard of him since.

It is officially announced at the White House that the President will send to Congress the Neill-Reynolds report on the Chicago packing houses, probably Monday.

In the meeting of the Senate committee on privileges and elections this morning, Senator Bailey offered a resolution for the expulsion from the Senate of Senator Burton, of Kansas. The consideration of the resolution was postponed until next Tuesday when a special meeting of the committee will be held.

The State Department today received advices from Venezuela to the effect that Acting President Gomes has asked Castro to return to Caracas and resume the presidency, that Castro has refused, and that now Gomez will call a special session of the legislature to accept formally Castro's resignation. The dispatch quotes Castro as saying that he would be willing to return and act as private secretary to Gomez.

Asylum Investigation.

Yesterday's session of the legislative investigating committee at the Eastern Insane Asylum opened with E. H. Clowes on the stand. The morning was taken up in wrangling between opposing counsel. Col. Anderson insisted that the charges against the competency of his client as a witness be stricken from the record

The committee in secret session decided that all of the charges except those of graft and unfitness should be stricken out. The witness testified that the shortness of food at the institution had never come to the knowledge of the board, and that they thought the superintendent would give the patients the best food possible. He said the reason the contracts for beef had been given to local dealers rather than to large wholesale meat companies was that meat had to be supplied daily, as the institution had no place to keep any quantity at one time.

Rumor Denied.

New York, June 1.—A wireless message was received in this city today from President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania Railroad. It read:

"No truth in the rumor of your Marconigram that I have resigned the presidency of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. "CASSATT."

The Amerika will probably reach this port Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The grievance committee of the New York State Bar Association, which, at the request of David B. Hill, investigated his connection as counsel with the Equitable Life Assurance Society, reported today clearing Mr. Hill of all blame.

News of the Day.

Paul Morton was yesterday elected president of the Equitable Assurance Company of New York, and former Judge William A. Day was elected vice president. Other officials were elected and appointed.

Retiring Associate Justice Henry Billings Brown, of the United States Supreme Court, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Bar Association of the District of Columbia last night. The President, the Vice-President, members of the Cabinet, members of the Supreme Court and other distinguished guests were present. The table was laid in the red palm room of the New Willard.

The Senate yesterday passed the Knox "immunity" bill and the omnibus lighthouse bill with practically no debate, passed the Military Academy bill and was only prevented from passing the employers' liability bill by a motion to go into executive session. The House passed the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill and sent the postoffice and the legislative, executive and judicial bills to conference.

The extra session of the Delaware Legislature which convened at Dover, yesterday, adjourned until June 11. The members will commence balloting for Senator the day following, as the federal statute requires balloting for Senator to begin on the second Tuesday after organization, and it is held that the regular session organization does not apply to yesterday's meeting. The republican senatorial caucus will be held on Monday night, June 11.

Virginia News.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, Washington patent attorneys, report the grant this week to citizens of this State, of the following patents: William Evans, of Norfolk, for surgical table; Edward B. Lewis, of Howardsville, for desk, and Muscoe L. Spotswood and T. A. Weller, of Richmond, tobacco pipe.

Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson, chairman of the democratic state committee, and member of the national committee from Virginia was yesterday in Washington elected chairman of the sub-committee of the national committee, appointed to co-operate with the democratic congressional committee in the campaign this fall.

The National Association of Deaf Mutes has decided to hold its next convention at Norfolk in August of next year, and there is likelihood of one of the largest gathering of this class that has yet been held. It is claimed that the Braidwood school at Cobbs, in Chesterfield county, was the first school for this class in this continent.

Already more than half a dozen countries in the Ninth Virginia district have held conventions and appointed delegates to the republican, convention to be held at Marion, on June 20 to nominate a candidate for Congress in the Ninth district. The counties thus far acting have named Slemp delegates and it now appears to be a foregone conclusion that the Congressman is to be renominated, as the party organization is determined on it.

H. H. Wallace died suddenly Wednesday night at his home in Fredericksburg, of heart disease, aged 59 years. He was a member of Braxton's Battery in which he served during the war. At the time of his death he was president of the Fredericksburg National Bank, and for a number of years was chairman of the democratic committee of that city. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, one son, two brothers (Wistar and Judge A. W. Wallace) and one sister (Mrs. James Carmichael).

Terrible Storm at Atlantic City.

Resembling a cyclone in its fury, an electric storm broke over Atlantic City shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and with its greater force in the very heart of the hotel and cottage districts, did thousands of dollars worth of damage to property. Every window in the exposed side of many hotels and cottages was broken by hail, which reached the size of pigeon eggs. In the northern section of the city trees were uprooted, one building was demolished and a store badly wrecked In Ventnor the storm was scarcely felt, while at the inlet there was only a light shower. Another phenomenon of the storm was the sudden rise in the temperature. Immediately the hail ceased the mercury went up 20 degrees in as many minutes, and the submerged streets fairly steamed with the heat.

Only the bravery of Engineer Frank Potts prevented a disastrous wreck of the Philadelphia Express due at Atlantic City about 6 o'clock. The storm struck the train as it was speeding along at a mile a minute on the Meadows, midway between Atlantic City and the mainland. The cloudburst of rain and hail made it impossible to see more than 20 yards ahead, and at the heighth of the storm a big semifore, or signal pole, broken by the wind, fell across the path of the speeding locomotive, breaking off the safety valve and a portion of the boiler plate, making a hole a foot in diameter. Steam flooded the cab and enveloped the coaches, and the screeching of the airbrakes added to the panic of the passengers. Women fainted, and men, in their excitement, leaped from the coaches into the storm.

Potts, the engineer, braved almost certain death from the scalding cloud and, setting the brakes, called to his fireman, John Sharp, and together they leaped from the cab Both were badly bruised. But for Potts' heroic action the semaphore, dragging under the wheels, would have derailed the coache with their human freight.

The storm broke at 6:15 o'clock, and for the five minutes that it raged panic reigned in the exchanges and dining-rooms of the hotels Added to the roar of the tempest was the terrifying sound of thousands of panes of glass smashed by the big hailstones. It was impossible to see the opposite side of the street, so great was the torrent, while binding lightning pierced the semi-darkness and a cannonade of thunder added to the roar. Every window on the exposed side of many cottages and hotels was broken, and the rain beating in ruined carpets and furniture.

Tramps in England.

Washington, May June 1.—In seasons of depression there is an army of 80,000 tramps in England, so a committee of Parliament has estimated. There is never less than half that number. Consular reports say that tramps are considered to be vehicles of infectious diseases and that legislation by Parliament to regulate and mitigate the evil is recommended, though no solution short of finding employment and paying better wages is regarded as possible.

BOMB THROWN AT ALFONSO.

As was stated in the Gazette, the public rejoicing in Madrid over the marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Victoria had a terrible dramatic sequel at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon as a bomb thrown from an upper window exploded with deadly effect near the coach occupied by the king and queen. Providentially, King Alfonso and queen Victoria escaped by an electric wire deflecting the bomb; but at least 16 persons most of them being of the personal and military escort and the others spectators, were killed. Many others were injured.

King Alfonso and Queen Victoria got out of their partly shattered carriage and entered another one. The queen was trembling, but gave no indication of fainting.

The scene in the vicinity of the explosion was horrible. As the municipal guards hastily improvised litters to bear off the mangled corpses dense crowds pressed in upon them, causing indescribable confusion. Soldiers occupied all the streets leading to the locality, making it almost impossible to reach the spot from a distance.

One of the horses drawing the royal coach was killed. The bodies of many persons were terribly torn by the force of the explosions.

The royal procession had come to a temporary stop, with the royal carriage exactly opposite the house, when the bomb was thrown. The missile fell to the right of the royal carriage between the hind most pair of horses and the front part, of the wheels. The explosion killed two horses and a groom. The Duke of Sotomayor, who was riding on the right hand side of the carriage, was slightly wounded, and four of the soldiers who lined the route followed by the cortege was killed.

As a curious coincidence, it was just a year ago yesterday that a bomb was thrown at King Alfonso in Paris. As the king, accompanied by President Loubet, was driving away from a gala performance at the opera, May 31, 1905, an anarchist threw a bomb at the royal carriage.

It struck a trooper of the cuirassier escort on the shoulder, fell to the ground and exploded, without injuring the king or the president, who continued their drive to the Palais d'Orsay.

Several soldiers of the escort were thrown from their horses and injured, while fragments of the bomb struck a number of persons in the crowd.

The horse of one of the republican guards belonging to the escort received the full force of the charge in his chest, thus averting it from the two rulers.

The news of the attempted assassination spread throughout the city with great rapidity, turning the rejoicings of the populace to awe. The telegraph offices were invaded by struggling masses but a rigid censorship was instituted.

The explosion would probably not have occured if the cortege had followed the route originally planned; but returning it was determined to retrace part of Mayor street and give the people a further opportunity to observe the pageant. It was in front of 88 Mayor street that the bomb was exploded. This is within half a block of the esplanade leading to the royal palace.

The bomb, which was concealed in a bouquet, was of polished steel, half a centimeter thick. It was thrown from a third-floor window. The house, according to some reports, belongs to the Queen Mother, having been bequeathed to her by a philantropist,, and being the only house she owns in Madrid. The house is opposite the Church of the Sacrament and the captain general's residence.

TODAY'S DISPATCHES.

Madrid, June 1.—The correspondent of the Publishers Press is assured by a high police official that the man who threw the bomb yesterday in an attempt to assassinate King Alfonso and his bride, Queen Ena, has been arrested and is now confined in the Mediodia police station. It is also stated on high authority that the prisoner has made a confession that he is the would-be assassin of their majesties.

The city which was only yesterday the scene of happy rejoicing in the celebration of King Alfonso's wedding, is today cast into the deepest gloom caused by the attempt on the lives of the young monarchs.

The people rejoice to think that the King and Queen, for whom the anarchist's bomb was intended, escaped, but the horror of the dastardly crime and the sorrow by the deaths of so many innocent victims has unnerved the populace.

The people now have no heart for entering into the festivities which had been planned for the next ten days in celebration of the happy event of the King's marriage, and it is probable that the fetes in honor of Alfonso and Victoria will not be enacted.

The place for making the attempt upon the rulers was chosen by the assassin with devilish cunning and ingenuity. This was one of the most respectable quarters of the street, which at that point, is only a dozen yards wide. The man who is regarded as the assassin at first engaged a room on another street, but he left there, probably because there was no balcony on the house, and moved to the quarters he occupied yesterday. When the police investigated the room which the man first occupied they found a powder syringe which smelled like bitter almonds.

From the investigations of the police, the following is known of the assassin. He is known variously by the names of Mateo, Motan, or Manuel Durav. He engaged the balcony room of the house at 88 Calle Mayor from which the bomb was thrown, on May 24, offering to pay $5 a day for the room if its occupant would move out temporarily. After securing the room, the anarchist refused to allow any one to enter, alleging that he was indisposed. Yesterday he ordered a big bouquet and in it he concealed the bomb which he hurled at the King's carriage. After throwing the missile the man stepped back into his room, quickly changed his hat and escaped in the confusion caused by his act.

There was a wild cry of dismay and dread from the crowd as the bomb exploded, and those who had been struck down fell in sickening numbers. Numbers of the envoys, and royal personages who were in the wedding procession, as well as many soldiers and citizens made a rush toward the house from which the bomb had been thrown, in the hope of catching the assassin.

King Alfonso himself white with rage, was one of the first to engage in this attempt to reach the murderer. The King leaped from the royal coach and ran toward the door of the house intending to enter. Soldiers promptly closed around the entrance and persuaded the young ruler not to do such a thing. They surrounded the house, saying the man could not escape.

King Alfonso then ran back to the coach where Queen Victoria had nearly fainted. She clung to him in fright as he led her to another coach. The King and Queen on this short walk to another coach had to pass the dead and injured lying in the street and avoid pools of blood from the victims of the outrage.

The troops cleared the street and the police refused to allow any one to enter until the dead and injured had been picked up, and the latter sent to hospitals for treatment. All traces of the horror were also removed.

It is now known that more than fifty persons were injured by the explosion. Five of them are in a dying condition. The children of the Italian Ambassador were on the balcony of the embassy which stands near the house from which the bomb was thrown. The explosion broke the glass windows encasing the balcony and the children were showered by the falling glass. Fortunately they all escaped without serious injury. General Weyler is among those who were seriously hurt.

Queen Victoria is indisposed today as a result of the awful scene through which she passed. She is suffering from the shock, but it is expected that she will fully recover in a few days.

King Alfonso will attend the funeral of the victims of the outrage and the members of the Cabinet and Cortes will also be present.

London, June 1.—Information received by anarchists in this city today show that two attempts were made to assassinate Alfonso and his wife in Madrid yesterday. The first attempt was made in front of the church of San Geronimo, as the royal pair were leaving the church. A bomb was thrown but it failed to explode. Don Jose, a notorious continental desperado, threw the bomb. The second attempt was the one which wrecked the royal coach and came so near killing the king and queen.

The Evening Standard, which printed a story on Wednesday giving details of a plot upon the life of Alfonso, today publishes an alleged telegram from anarchists in Madrid to the London headquarters which says:

"Unfortunately the men placed in front of the church were unable to execute the task. Don Joe threw a bomb which failed to explode. We were afraid our plans were spoiled for a moment."

Comment is made in regard to the "men placed in front of the church," and it is pointed out that they probably received tickets admitting them to the strictly guarded position through the machinations of military co-conspirators.

London, June 1.—The correspondent of the Evening News at Madrid in telling how narrow was the escape of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria says that the ribbon of one of the orders worn by Alfonso was torn by a flying splinter from the broken carriage.

The correspondent of the Central News at Madrid confirms the reports that Alfonso was struck by a fragment of the bomb, hurled at him, but was miraculously saved by one of the decorations which he wore. According to this correspondent, the fragment of the bomb struck the young king in the breast, but its force was broken by hitting the chain of the Portuguese Order of Santiago, which the king was wearing. The chain was broken by the blow, but it stopped the bomb splinter and prevented it from entering Alfonso's breast.

The Spanish embassy states that it has information that Queen Victoria is not seriously ill as the result of the shock she had sustained yesterday. King Alfonso and the Queen drove unescorted through Madrid this morning in an automobile and were cheered frantically by their subjects and the visitors to the city.

A news agency report received today says that a man believed to be an Englishman, who gives the name of Robert, is detained in Madrid, on suspicion of being concerned in the bomb throwing.

Washington, June 1.—The President today received the following cablegram from Special Ambassador Whitridge, sent to Spain to represent the United States at the marriage of King Alfonso.

"Madrid, May 31 —4:35 p. m.—On returning from church, after marriage, bomb was thrown at King's carriage. Their majesties untouched. Carriage wrecked. Two horses killed, also aide de camp. Several soldiers killed and wounded. Great popular rage. Have called among very first and written our honor. WHITRIDGE."

Suit Against Pennsylvania Railroad.

Altoona, Pa., June 1.—Suit for $40,000 damages for alleged discrimination was entered this morning in the Blair county courts against the Pennsylvania Railroad by Charles T Greek, a local contractor. Greek declares he had an agreement to buy curbstone at forty five cents per foot from C. A. Sims & Co. railroad contractors operating in Cambria county, but when he ordered shipments of stone he received word that Sims & Co. had been notified not to ship stone into Blair county excepting through Enos M. Jones, an Altoona councilman. Greek alleged that because relations existing between A. C. Shand, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Jones caused the Pennsylvania illegally to dicriminate in favor the latter. Greek's contracts would have netted him $10,000, and he claims treble damages of $30,000 for the discrimination under act of June 4, 1883.

Found Politeness Paid.

Atlantic City, June 1.—The wife of Frank Husted, No. 37 north Virginia avenue, was awakened by a slight noise early yesterday morning. Going to a window, she beheld a man working below. "Please leave these premises at once," she said, without a tremor in her voice. "You're a coward to attempt to rob me while my husband is away from home, and if you are a gentleman you will go immediately." "Just as you say, madam," answered the burglar, looking up and lifting his hat, and he disappeared in the shadows. When Mrs Husted awoke yesterday morning she learned that the burglar had merely crossed a fence in the rear of her home, "jimmied" a bath-room window at the residence of William Beckett, No. 916 Arctic avenue, and departed with a gold watch, some cash and considerable jewelry.

Congressman Commits Suicide.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Congressman Robert Adams, of Pennsylvania, shot himself with suicidal intent this morning. He is now at the Emergency Hospital and his death is expected at any minute. He committed the deed at about 6:15 o'clock this morning at his apartments, 1708 H. St. N. W. The weapon was discharged into his mouth and the bullet passed into his brain. Adams is republican representative of the 2nd Pa., district, (Philadelphia), and was author of the famous whipping post bill. At 9:20 the physicians at the Emergency Hospital said that Adams could not possibly survive. Adams was found by his butler this morning sitting in a chair at the foot of his bed with his head leaning on a table. A pistol was lying on a trunk a few feet away. Blood was on the bed clothing, indicating that he had shot himself while in bed. He was attired in his night linen. He was conscious when found. Dr. Carmichael of 808 17th street, was passing by the apartments of Mr. Adams and was asked by the corner druggist to attend the Congressman. He immediately ran up stairs where he found Mr. Adams still sitting at the table and holding his head in his hands. He rushed to the side of the Congressman and discovered that he had inflicted a revolver shot wound in his mouth. During his brief conversation Mr. Adams said that he had not been drinking heavily. He had taken one glass of brandy early in the morning. To other questions he answered incoherently.

The motive actuating Mr. Adams in taking his life was made clear by a letter from him received by Speaker Cannon in the mails today. It read as follows:

"Washington, May 31, 1906.

"Hon. J. G. Cannon, Speaker, House of Representatives:

"Dear Mr. Speaker—The fact that my personal obligations exceed my resources is my only excuse for abandoning the responsible position I occupy in the Senate. I am willing to be buried at its expense, but I ask that no committee be appointed or memorial service be held, as I have never been in sympathy with the latter custom. With assurances of my high regard, Sincerely yours,

"ROBERT ADAMS."

Adams died at 11:30 a. m.

Robert Adams, republican, of Philadelphia, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 26, 1849. He had since manhood held a number of State and federal positions. He was appointed United States minister to Brazil April 1, 1889, and resigned June 1, 1890; was elected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and re-elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress.

Death of a Congressman.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 1.—The Hon. Daniel N. Lockwood, for many years Representative in Congress from this city, died at nine o'clock this morning, at his home on Niagara street, aged 62 years. Death resulted from blood poisoning following the amputation of one of his legs several weeks ago.

Mr. Lockwood was in Congress from 1877 to 1895, and was a delegate to the democratic national conventions of 1880 and 1884. He nominated Grover Cleveland for mayor of Buffalo, for governor of New York, and for President of the United States.

Capid and Stork as Partners.

Bucyrus, O., June 1.—Cupid and the stork have entered in a successful combination in the southern part of this county. A year ago Albert Flannery and Arthur Flannery, brothers, married sisters, the wedding being a double affair. Yesterday the stork brought a baby boy to each of the Flannery families at the same hour.

Says Leprosy is Spreading

Indianapolis, June 1.—Dr. Isadorde Dyer, of New Orleans, well-known as a specialist in leprosy, says that disease is becoming a vital question in this country, and that there are now between four hundred and five hundred cases in the United States, all but seventy-five of which are at large. He said the disease spreads insidiously, and it is not usually recognized by the average physician even when well advanced. Louisiana, he says, is the only State in the Union that has a home for lepers.

Mutiny on Torpedo Boat.

Toulon, June 1.—A serious mutiny broke out on the French torpedo boat No. 250, while the little vessel was off Corsica. Two sailors revolted and the rest of the crew joined them. The cruiser Hallebarde quelled the mutiny and conveyed the mutineers to the naval prison at Toulon.

New York Stock Market.

New York, June 1.—Brokers said that the market today was altogether a case of "dog eat dog," some traders jacking stocks up, while others offered them down. The most important houses said they were doing absolutely nothing. Prices movements were mixed.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Postoffice thieves paid a visit to Menham, N. J., early today, and succeeded in blowing open the safe and getting away with about $600 in cash and stamps.

Lake Shore fast mail train No. 17 ran into a freight train at Sandusky Junction, Ohio, this morning, injuring five persons aboad the mail train. The train was wrecked.

Mrs. Sarah Taylor, wife of James Taylor, residing at McAdoo, Pa., a small village near here, was found dead this morning, near the Hungarian cemetery. There were indications pointing to assault and murder.

Virginia Epworth League.

The Epworth League State Conference at Norfolk yesterday elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Rev. Frank L. Well, of Culpeper; first vice president, W. H. Vincent, of Capron; second vice president, J. W. Borum, of Norfolk; third vice president Miss Hilda Fosbury, of Lynchburg; fourth vice president, Rev. John W. Shackelford, of Nashville, Tenn; superintendent of junior work, Miss Jennie Bonney, of Norfolk; secretary, Rev. Hugh J. Paylor, of Chester: treasurer S. H. B. Peay, of Richmond.

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, June 1.

SENATE.

Mr. Morgan (Alabama) called up in the Senate this afternoon his resolution providing for the appointment of a senatorial committee of seven members to examine into the condition of affairs of the Isle of Pines.

Mr. Hale moved to refer it to the committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Morgan resisted. He charged that grave abuses existed in the government of the island that the Cuban government treated the American residents there in a severe, unjust, and unlawful manner, and he demanded "a rational, just, and honest settlement of a question that has taken hold of the public sentiment and that cannot be suppressed."

Pointing to the declaration of Secretary of State Root that the island was always Cuban territory, he exclaimed: "If this is true, why is he here demanding the ratification of a treaty which purposes the sale of the island to the Cuban government? If he believes what he has urged, through political or personal reasons, let them take this treaty out of this body."

The Senate this afternoon on passed without opposition, the measure known as the employers' liability bill, which has been strongly urged by organized labor. It was amended by Mr. Follette to provide that all questions of negligence and contributory negligence should be left to the jury and made parents next in line for pushing prosecution, after the widow and children.

HOUSE.

A voice from the dead was heard in the House of Representatives today when Speaker Cannon read the letter received by him this morning, and written by Representative Robert Adams, of Pennsylvania, last night, making clear the motive of his act of self-destruction.

The ceremonies in the House were brief and extremely impressive. The desk formerly occupied by Mr. Adams was draped and banked with flowers. The first reference to the tragedy was in Chaplain Couden's prayer:

"We meet, O, God, under the shadow of gloom and death," he said. "Our hearts are profoundly moved with grief and sorrow. One who has gone in and out among us for years, who has held a conspicuous place on the floor of this House; zealous in all that pertained to his duty; sensitive as to his character, he has rendered a good service to his people, to his State and to the nation, and we mourn his loss."

Mr. Morrell, of Pennsylvania, was recognized to make the formal announcement of Adams's death. "It is with the deepest feelings of pain and sorrow that I have to announce to the House the sudden death this morning of our old friend," he said.

Speaker Cannon, amid intense silence, read the strange letter from Mr. Adams. Its manly tone appealed to all, and many eyes glistened with tears.

General Morrell moved resolutions of sorrow, authorizing the sergeant-at-law to take charge of the funeral, but omitting, in accordance with Adams's last request, provisions for a committee and memorial services.

The resolutions having been adopted, the House, as a further mark of respect, adjourned until tomorrow.

Strasburg's Fight.

The State Corporation Commission was in session in Woodstock yesterday to hear the matter in controversy between the corporation of Strasburg and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company relative to compelling the railroad company to operate its trains into town. The trains run to Strasburg Junction, a distance of one mile.

The town seeks to have the trains brought at Strasburg in compliance with the charter of April 23, 1867, under which the Winchester and Strasburg Railway was chartered.

The railroad attorneys filed a demurrel in reply to the counts set forth in the charge, excepting the authority and jurisdiction of the commission, to the validity of the proceedings and to the sufficiency of the citation or writ.

The demurrer was overruled and the merits of the case were considered. Four witnesses were introduced for the plaintiff and two for the defendant, one of whom was Third Vice President Potter. The Baltimore and Ohio trains have not run into Strasburg since November, 1896, when the track from Strasburg Junction to Harrisonburg, which was leased for 100 years, reverted to the Southern.

The company claims that the building of a line to town or trackage over the Southern would be too great an expense for the traffic. The commission took the matter under consideration and will render a decision at Richmond.

Another stock broker has been forced to the wall by the defalcation of one or more trusted employes. William H. Hurley, jr., trading as William H. Hurley & Co., with offices in Philadelphia, yesterday made an assignment and the report that the trouble arose from the dishonesty of clerks created something of a sensation following, as it does, so closely upon the failure from the same cause of the firm of Harrison Snyder & Son.

A dispatch from Cuxhaven, Germany, says that a collision occurred today between the German trawler Diana and the German schooner Vorwaerts in which the Diana was sunk and the Vorwaerts badly damaged.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and useless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The New Chief.

Mr. Charles T. Goods, the newly elected Chief of Police, qualified and entered upon the discharge of his duties today. Ex-Chief Webster formally turned over the books, &c., to his successor. The ex-chief received the following this morning:

The Mayor's Office,
Alexandria, May 31, 1906.

Capt. James F. Webster, Alexandria, Va.:

My Dear Sir—In accepting from you the badge and insignia of Chief of Police, which you have worn with honor and distinction for many years, I feel constrained to say to you (a man who has spent the major portion of your life as chief protector of the lives and property of the people of this community) that during my term of office as mayor of the city I have found you ever ready and faithful to your trust, a man of strict integrity, fidelity and one whom I will be ever proud of having the pleasure of numbering among my friends. I feel that many rules and regulations are necessary to bring about a state of efficiency of our police force which the necessities of our city require. These rules will no doubt require much more active service of the chief of the department than formerly and under the circumstances you have no doubt acted wisely in tendering your resignation. It must be indeed gratifying to you, after having served in a capacity for about forty years in which a man is (by virtue of his duties, which is enforcement of law) almost bound to incur the hatred and enmity of a large number of people, that you have surrounded yourself with friends who, I might say, are legion. In conclusion I will say (and in doing so I feel that these are the sentiments of a host of your fellow citizens) that it will ever be my pleasure to do what I can to make the sere and yellow days of your life as serene and placid as possible.

Sincerely yours,
FRED J. PAFF.

All Three Acquitted.

As was stated in the Gazette of that day Sam Kobre, William Plean and J. E. Witbeck, indicted for the murder of Henry Kobre in Winston-Salem, N. C., Sunday night, January 21, were acquitted in the Superior Court in that place yesterday morning without argument to the jury and upon instruction of Judge Peebles. After all of the evidence for the State and defense had been submitted, the court asked the jury to retire. Judge Peebles then told the counsel for the prosecution that the only evidence they had incriminating either of the defendants was the testimony of their star witness, Sallie Stewart, "and I would not hang a dog on the evidence of such a character," said his honor. When the jury came back into court, he stated that if they should return a verdict of guilty he would promptly set it aside. The twelve men again retired and in less than five minutes returned with a verdict of "not guilty." J. E. Witebeck, formerly of Alexandria, one of the defendants, left last night for Petersburg.

Refreshing Rains.

There was a refreshing rain between 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday evening. There had been a light shower about an hour earlier. The heavens grew more threatening shortly after 5 o'clock, heavy clouds banking in the west and northwest. The wind suddenly veered and for a time "blew great guns," twisting a few limbs of trees and causing other minor damage. The rain soon followed and for about half and hour there was a copious downpour. During the prevalence of the storm, which was accompanied by thunder and lightning, the sails of a large schooner lying in the river between this city and Washington were blown away. Mr. James Wilkins, engineer of the B. & O. transfer tugboat Brewerton, was knocked down by a door which was blown against him during the storm. He was painfully but not seriously injured.

Another heavy cloud passed over this city and vicinity about three o'clock this morning. There was another heavy downpour of rain, accompanied by vivid lightning.

Lightning Struck Theatre.

During the electric storm that passed over this section yesterday evening lightning struck Chase's Theatre in Washington and frightened persons in the business district for several blocks around. The bolt bored a hole through the roof in quest of the electric wires for which it had an affinity, and ran down them to the switchboard, starting a fire which caused about $50 damage, but was extinguished by the firemen from a neighboring engine house before it could spread. Guests in the Regent Hotel, adjoining the theatre, were almost panic-stricken while they were at dinner. The same bolt snapped around the sidewalks of the neighborhood like "blue blazes" and knocked an umbrella from the hand of a man on the street. Numbers of Alexandrians were in the vicinity at the time, most of whom were wending their way toward the electric train.

Heptasophs.

Sitting Past Archon M. J. Gerson last night instituted Alexandria Conclave, Improved Order of Heptasophs, in the lodge room in the Alexandria National Bank Building. The following are the officers: Archon, E. A. Gorman, M. D.; inspector, A. Wollberg; provost, George W. Pettey; secretary, E. J. Fleming; treasurer, E. Stewart Smith; financier, George W. Bontz, jr.; prelate, Timothy F. McCarthy; warden, W. M. Glasgow; sentinel, A. C Davis; trustees, R. M. Pettey, William M. Peck and T. J. McFarland; committee on presentation, Arthur Humphries, Ross Elliott and C. L. Pickin; committee on entertainment, E. A. Gorman, R. M. Pettey, T. F. McCarthy, A. C. Davis and E. J. Fleming. After the installation the visiting members of the order were seved with refreshments.

River Notes.

The three-masted schooner Harry Chamberlain is at the shipyard loading railroad ties which she will carry to Boston.

The schooner Annie Mills, with lumber from Persimmon Point to Smoot & Co., has arrived.

A king crab, about as large as a man's hat, brought here by Captain James Elliott from Great Yeocomico, was among the curiosities at the Cameron street wharf this morning.

Funeral.

The remains of Capt. John M. Grigg, who died in Washington on Wednesday morning, were brought here today and interred in the Methodist cemetery. The funeral was attended by many of the employes of the Southern Railway with which company the deceasd had long been connected.

Capt. Grigg was in the 62d year of his age and was a native of Alexandria. In 1866 he entered the service of the Southern Railway and had for many years been in charge of its fastest and most important trains on the main line of the road, and was in charge of the Southwestern vestibule limited train until about a month ago, when the ravages of disease forced him to relinquish all work. Capt Grigg was popular with the traveling public and had extensive acquaintance with men in public life. Courteous and considerate to those traveling on the trains under his command, he made friends with all who came in contact with him. Monday he celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his marriage. Capt Grigg resided in Alexandria the greater portion of his life, only removing to Washington a year or two ago. His wife, a married daughter and one son, Mr. John Grigg, survive him.

Alexandria Hospital.

To the Board of Lady Managers:

I respectfully submit my report for term of service beginning March 1, 1906, and ending May 31, 1906, inclusive: Admissions, 102; cured, 75; improved, 4; died, 7; sent to alms house, 2; remaining under treatment, 14. The board are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts in securing and placing in the operating room the up-to-date system of asepsis and other improvements throughout the building. Thanks to the newer conditions our results in surgery rank with any hospitals south of New York. Respectfully submitted,

MARTIN D. DELANEY, M. D.

June 1, 1906.

The Automobile Law.

The Board of Supervisors of Fairfax county at its last meeting Monday by a recorded and unanimous vote adopted the automobile law, passed by the last legislature, which requires a license for every automobile using the county roads. The legislature left it optional with the Boards of Supervisors of the State to make the provisions of the law applicable to their respective counties. The law also requires automobiles to observe certain rules deemed necessary for the safety of others using the roads.

Personal.

Judge J. C. Barley has returned from Bath county where he has been on legal business.

A number of Alexandrians last night attended the closing exercises of the Corcoran Art School in Washington of which several Alexandrians are pupils.

Birthday Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Cline was the scene last night of a happy gathering of about 60 little friends of their granddaughter, Miss Madaline Byrne, it being the 14th anniversary of her birth. The little folks enjoyed the games and amusements until about 10 o'clock when they repaired to the dining-room, to partake of the delicacies which had been prepared for the occasion, L. Shuman & Son being the caterers. The presents were numerous and handsome.

Apartment House.

It is understood that the plans for the erection of a handsome apartment house in this city have been completed, and that the building will be an exceedingly handsome one, fitted with all modern conveniences. Several sites are in contemplation, but one has not yet been finally selected. The building, it is said, will be so constructed that it can be converted into a hotel if desired. Ample means are said to be available for the erection of the house.

Fight.

Two young men engaged in a brutal fight at the corner of Queen and Pitt streets about 9 o'clock last night. One of the combatants was cut and bitten by his adversary. A brother of the young man who had been so roughly handled having appeared, the victor attacked him, beating him unmercifully and forced his head into a gulley filled with mud and water. Some persons who were in the neighborhood went after an officer who later appeared, but no arrests were made.

LOCAL BREVITIES

The excursion to be given by the Retail Merchants' Association next Wednesday to Marshall Hall promises to be a delightful affair.

Mr. W. E. Hamersley caught a carrier pigeon in his residence at the southwest corner of Cameron and Henry streets yesterday. On one leg was a band on which was inscribed P-1325; on the other the letters G. K.

Hayes Jackson, colored, who had been arrested by Officers Garvey and Lyles for defacing property and assaulting Hugh Churchford, was fined $5 in the Police Court this morning This was the only case on the docket.

Owing to the manager's inability to see all the merchants, the big open air free picture exhibition to have been given tomorrow night at the corner of King and Pitt streets has been postponed till Saturday night, June 9th. These pictures are high class and humorous.

The Dupont Divorce.

Much surprise has been occasioned by the report that Alfred I. Dupont, of Wilmington, Del., had joined the divorce colony at Sioux Falls, S. D., presumably to qualify for bringing an action for divorce. He is vice president of the big powder company, one of the wealthiest members of the family, a musician of note and fond of out-door sports.

Mr. Dupont and wife parted marital ways the latter part of August last. They lived in a mansion in Christiana Hundred, not far from Wilmington.

Mrs. Dupont is exceedingly attractive, and her cheerful way won her hosts of friends, even among the farming and working classes in the country. Mr. Dupont was equally as popular with the workmen, to whom he has demonstrated his fearlessness time and again when powder-mill explosions have occurred.

When the separation occurred Mrs. Dupont retained the Christiana Hundred mansion, where she lives with her children. Mr. Dupont went away for awhile in his big touring automobile, and several months ago he bought the country home of Isaac C. Elliott, about half a mile from Wilmington. He is fond of shooting, and in Virginia two years ago a pellet of shot struck him in an eye, the sight of which was lost.

Word has reached Wilmington from Sioux Falls to the effect that Mr. Dupont declares it is none of the public's concern "if I did come here to seek a divorce." He is thus quoted: "I am here for my health, not for divorce. I am 42 years of age and feel like an old man. I have been married 20 years or more, but my wife and I have not lived together for years."

New Cure for Epilepsy.

J. B. Waterman, of Watertown, O., Rural free delivery, writes, "My daughter, afflicted for years with epilepsy, was cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills. She has not had an attack for over two years." Millionaire Banker Killed.

Pendennis White, a millionaire banker and lumberman, was killed and Edwin A. Bell and Richard B. Lyman, stock brokers, were injured in a collision between an automobile and a trolley car on Hertel avenue in Buffalo, N. Y., last night.

The three men had been at the Country Club for dinner, and were returning to town in an automobile. Bell, who owned the car, was driving. A trolley car, which had been running ahead of the automobile, slowed down for a crossing. Bell swerved the car to the left to avoid it, not noticing that another trolley car was approaching from the west at high speed.

The east bound car and the automobile met with terrible force. White was hurled fifty feet and instantly killed, his neck being broken. Bell and Lyman were hurled through the windows of the trolley car They were badly cut, but miraculously escaped fatal injury. The chauffeur, who was on the back seat, escaped with a few bruises.

Pendennis White was forty-eight years old. He was a member of the firm of White, Gratwick & Mitchell, wholesale lumber dealers, of North Tonawanda, and of the firm of Stevens, Eaton & Co., of New York. He was president of the Lumber Insurance Company, of New York State, and also president of the newly organized Adirondack Insurance Company.

Rev. Mr. Tucker Will Accept

Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, D. D., will accept the office of Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, to which he was elected late Wednesday night by the Episcopal Council in Portsmouth. His ordination will not occur until late in the fall, as the election by this diocese has to be confirmed by a majority of all the bishops and standing committees of all diocesan councils in the United States.

After the election has been confirmed by the diocesan committees, Bishop Tucker's ordination to the bishopric will likely occur in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Norfolk, of which he has been rector for twenty-five years. This will likely occur sometime in October. The new bishop's special work will be in the western part of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, and for his own convenience he will have to live in that section of the State.

YES,

We Probably Have It.

A good many people make the mistake of going to Washington to get something they could buy at home, do not look for it here, just jump to the conclusion that such things are not to be had in Alexandria.

We would like to state to those contemplating purchasing a fine watch, or diamond, or other fine piece of jewelry, clock, silverware, cut glass, etc., that we have a large and complete stock of the above mentioned goods and which we offer at a lower price than is asked for the same goods in Washington.

Your money with the Virginia Safe Deposit & Trust Corporation and pay your bills by check, for it's a safe, up-to-date way of transacting business. This institution was organized to give its patrons accurate banking service, and in this respect has thoroughly fulfilled its mission. They offer you every facility that wise and conservative bankers approve and also absolute safety. This corporation pays 3 PER CENT. interest on deposits in its Savings Department, making it a desirable depository from an economic viewpoint for the accounts of those especially who are not engaged in commercial life, but who have an income or who are employed on a salary. This corporation paid several thousand dollars in interest last year. Did you share in this distribution? If not, why not open a savings account at once and share in their next? You should make it a rule to deposit part of your earnings systematically in a savings account with this corporation. ONE DOLLAR will open an account. Why not start TODAY?

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 1, 1906.

Hicks for June.

A regular storm period is central on the 1st extending to June 4. The normal results should be decided rise of temperature, with falling barometer, increasing humidity, all meeting into cloudiness, with rain, wind and thunder storms. Rise of barometer and shift to cooler, westerly winds will result about the 3rd to 5th.

A storm period is central on the 6th, 7th and 8th and rain. Expect a return of falling barometer and storms.

A regular storm period from the 11th to the 16th. This period to bring heavy rains and thunder storms.

The crisis will fall within forty-eight hours of sunset on the 12th. General and destructive hail will be a marked feature, with cloud bursts and possible tornadoes over central to northwestern sections. Sudden change to cooler will follow with snow squalls and frosts in extreme north.

A reactionary storm period centers on the 18th to the 21st and will bring changes of barometer, temperature, humidity and wind currents, causing an excess of lightning and thunder, if not a series of cloudbursts and solstice rain storms. The first stages of all the June period promise to be excessively warm, followed by sudden change to unseasonable cool.

A regular storm period runs from the 23rd to the 27th. If heavy storms of rain, wind and thunder do not appear peculiar and phenomenal results will convulse the elements of earth and sky.

A reactionary storm period is central on Friday and Saturday, the 29th and 30th. Falling barometer, very high temperature and energetic thunder, rain and hail storms are more than probable on and touching that date. These disturbances will not reach the eastern States before the opening of July.

Long Tennessee Fight.

For twenty years W. L. Rawls, of Bells, Tenn., fought nasal catarrh. He writes: "The swelling and soreness inside my nose was fearful, till I began applying Bucklen's Arnica Salve to the sore surface; this caused the soreness and swelling to disappear, never to return." Best salve in existence. 25c at E. J. S. Leadbeater & Sons', Druggists.

Tipping Barred.

After June 15 men and women in Virginia will have to be extremely careful about their methods in tipping waiters, bellboys, Pullman-car-porters and other employees of public establishments with a view of getting more than their money's worth.

By the provisions of the anti-graft bill, which was approved March 15, servants are placed in the same class with agents and employees, and persons tipping waiters with a view of getting more than they really pay for are as liable to fine and jail imprisonment as the waiters accepting the tips.

That portion of the act which specifically covers the actions of servants and makes them criminal is in the first part of the first section, and reads as follows:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, That any person who gives, offers or promises to an agent any gift or gratuity whatever, without the knowledge and consent of the principal, employer or master of such agent, employee or servant, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's business, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100, or by such fine and by imprisonment for not more than one year."

The act makes witnesses exempt from prosecution for testifying, and makes it obligatory upon persons summoned as witnesses to testify under penalty of fine of $100 and imprisonment of six months.

You cannot induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach, once overworked, must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA takes up the work for your stomach, digests what you eat and gives it a rest. Puts it back in condition again. You can't feel good with disordered stomach. Try Kodol. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

A Pair of Coddlers.

A man with a curious fondness for skullcaps was the Abbe de St. Martin, who, in the seventeenth century, made himself ridiculous by his vagaries. He always wore nine of these articles to keep off the cold and, furthermore, nine pairs of stockings. His mode of passing the night was more remarkable still. He caused to be constructed for himself a bed of ricks, beneath which was a furnace, so arranged that he could regulate it to the degree of warmth he might require, and his bed was fitted with only a very small opening, through which the abbe used to creep when he retired to rest at night.

Even more ludicrous was the contrivance which the great French mathematician, Fourier, designed and used for the protection of his health. He incased himself in a species of box, the interior of which, by some mechanical means, was kept at the only temperature at which he felt he could live without inconvenience. While enveloped in this clumsy affair he was necessarily confined to one spot, but he provided means for the freedom of his head and hands. Even the ills of asthma and rheumatism, one would have thought, were preferable to existence under such circumstances as this, but the French mathematician, we must believe, was of a different opinion.—London Standard.

Vitality of a Frog's Heart.

There is no living creature, according to a Philadelphia surgeon, that has a heart with so much vitality as a frog, especially the species commonly known as the water frog. It is generally known that the aquatic frog will survive for months after the hind legs have been removed. Of course he cannot hop about as he could before losing his principal means of transit, but his fore legs help him to crawl wherever he desires to go. When I began to learn surgery I made a special dissection of a frog one day. I laid the various parts of the body on a table and discovered that life was extinct within a few hours in every organ except the heart. The heart showed valvular motion for a day after it had been severed entirely from the body. I am not aware that any other creature's heart is possessed of such vitality.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Oil Upon the Troubled Waters.

Lady—All your marine pictures represent the sea as calm. Why don't you paint a storm once in awhile? Artist—We painters in oil can't paint a storm. I have often outlined a storm on the canvas, but as soon as I begin to spread on the oil colors the waves subside and the sea becomes as calm as a duck pond.—Punch.

Wholly Unnecessary.

"You don't even know how to make a lemon tart," remarked the cooking school girl, with fine scorn.

"It isn't necessary to make a lemon tart," replied the other. "All the lemons I've ever seen were pretty tart already."

Perfume of Flowers.

It is claimed that the perfume of flowers disappears as soon as the starch in the petals is exhausted, and it may, it is said, be restored by placing the flowers in a solution of sugar, when the formation of starch and the emission of fragrance will be at once resumed.

Encouraging Him.

Mr. Faintart—Miss Brightly, I—aw—that is—Mabel, I—er—desire to—aw—really— Miss Brightly—Keep right on, Mr. Faintart; I'll consider your proposal and have my answer ready by the time you have got it out of your system.—Philadelphia Press.

On Other Nights.

Mr. Goodthing—How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her, Bobby? Her Young Brother—Well, it's a little too small. She has an awful hard time getting it off when the other fellows call.—Puck.

Some Reduction.

"Then the doctor didn't succeed in reducing your weight?"

"Why, not very much, but he left me with quite an attenuated pocketbook."
